

SHEET METAL AND AIR CONDITIONING CONTRACTORS' NATIONAL ASSOCIATION

March 4, 2025

The United States Senate
Washington, DC 20510

Dear Senator:

The Sheet Metal and Air Conditioning Contractors' National Association (SMACNA) is supported by more than 3,500 construction firms engaged in industrial, commercial, residential, architectural and specialty sheet metal and air conditioning construction throughout the United States. On behalf of our membership, SMACNA would like to again voice our support for an expedited confirmation of Representative Lori Chavez-DeRemer (R-OR-5) to serve as the 30th Secretary of Labor, voted out of the HELP Committee by a bipartisan 14-9 vote last week. In her role as a Member of Congress, Rep. Chavez-DeRemer served her congressional district with distinction in a bipartisan, fair and balanced manner, earning widespread support for her job creating initiatives, ideas and legislation. Her nomination is a perfect example of appointing a person who knows the long list of complex labor-management issues at DOL and has a balanced policy view that all sides respect. From years of experience, our firms in Oregon and across the nation believe she will serve the Trump Administration in advocating for labor – management cooperation and seek enforcement of the nation’s labor standards and procurement laws. We have especially appreciated her efforts during her term in Congress where she was known for positive reforms to the Davis-Bacon Act, Registered Apprenticeship programs (RAPs), and other workplace standards important to the leading quality-driven firms in the construction industry.

Secretary Nominee Chavez-DeRemer has often spoken of the need to reform certain workforce development rules to better reflect the intent of enacted statutes and to reform and expand registered apprenticeship opportunities. These potential improvements could be instrumental to meet and address the skilled workforce shortage crisis. In addition, she has supported an emphasis on enforcing long-established workplace laws routinely followed by scrupulous and law-abiding contractors and most small businesses. While many unscrupulous businesses and their advocates may see enforcement of the nation’s labor laws as controversial, we do not. To do anything less than enforce workforce and workplace rules provides an anticompetitive advantage for employers refusing to follow basic employment, wage, and hour standards and many other training and health and safety rules.

During her tenure as Mayor, Rep. Chavez-DeRemer was widely viewed by our members as a respected, open and fair advocate of local development and skilled workforce expansion. She has been a valued bridge between labor and employers where she strived to connect hopeful, career-oriented workers with apprenticeships and high-skilled, well-paying construction trades jobs. Since her arrival in Congress, Rep. Chavez-DeRemer consistently met with, worked with, and listened to both employers and employees to advocate for reasonable job creation and management policies. This experience will be invaluable as the Department continues implementing important contracting laws, such as the Infrastructure Investment and Jobs Act, CHIPS and Science Act, and Inflation Reduction Act, each with important apprenticeship job training and expansion incentives. Each offers pathways to strengthen the “high road” contracting industry and create far more high-quality skilled construction careers, careers that build greater family and community economic wealth.

SMACNA's membership includes thousands of firms employing hundreds of thousands of highly skilled trades craftspeople specializing in large federal and private sector mega projects involving extreme complexity, energy performance contracting, facility energy management and residential, commercial, public, and industrial energy system service, construction, and efficient retrofits. Based upon our extensive experience working with the nominee, and U.S. Department of Labor officials for many decades, we urge you to take swift floor action and confirm Rep. Lori Chavez-DeRemer' as Secretary of Labor to advocate and serve the nation's workforce, employers as well as their workplaces.

Sincerely,
